EDUCATION	The University of Texas at Austin , Austin, TX
	• Ph.D., Engineering, 2016, Advisor: Professor Robert D. Moser • M.S., Engineering, 2009
	Georgetown University , Washington, D.C.
	• B.S., Physics & Mathematics, with honors, 2007
RESEARCH INTERESTS	High Performance Computing, Computational Science, Machine Learning, Deep Learning, Exascale Computing, Turbulence, Verification Validation & Uncertainty Quantification, Bayesian Inference
PROFESSIONAL PROFILE	Senior Fellow, Advanced Micro Devices (AMD). Computational scientist and technical leader in exascale computing, AI infrastructure, and AI for Science, leading software architecture, application readiness, and customer enablement for leadership-class HPC and sovereign AI systems.
SELECTED LEADERSHIP	• Technical leadership for exascale application performance and software readiness across Frontier, El Capitan, and next-generation leadership-class systems. • Key contributor to AMD's HPC and AI-for-science strategy, spanning GPU/APU architecture, ROCm software, communication libraries, and customer workload enablement. • Partnered with national laboratories, hyperscalers, universities, and sovereign AI organizations to translate emerging hardware capability into scientific and business impact. • Public technical voice for high-precision scientific computing, heterogeneous open software, and the convergence of modeling, simulation, and AI.
RESEARCH EXPERIENCE	AMD	Austin, TX
	Senior Fellow	2026 - present
	Fellow	May 2023 - 2026
	Principal Member of Technical Staff	July 2021 - 2023
	Senior Member of Technical Staff	July 2019 - 2021
	Member of Technical Staff	July 2018 - 2019
	Senior Engineer	Dec. 2016 - May 2018

AWARDS

- Executive Spotlight Award, June 2020
 - "For the winning LUMI EuroHPC bid"
- Next 5% Award, 2020, 2022, 2025, & 2026
 - "The Next 5% Award is the highest level of recognition at AMD"
- Datacenter Solution Group's Award of Excellence for work on the Frontier Exascale Proposal, 2019
- "Best Student Paper Finalist" – SC13, Denver, CO
- "Best Paper" – 2012 TACC-Intel Highly Parallel Computing Symposium
- Cockrell School of Engineering Thrust 2000 Ph.D. Fellowship
- 2007 Treado Medal, Georgetown University

MENTORSHIP

Co-ops Advised:

- Alberto Acevedo, Brett Leroux, Michael Curry (Summer 2020)
- Octavi Obiols Sales (Summer 2019)
